

HEARST'S PLAN AGAIN BEATEN

New York Court Of Appeals Declares Re-count Measure By Legislature Is Unconstitutional.

FIGHT WAS FOR MCLELLAN'S PLACE

Owner Of New York Journal Would Have Unseated Present Mayor Of Greater New York--The Last Attempt.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Albany, N. Y., Nov. 19.—William Randolph Hearst, through his attorneys, has apparently played his last trump card in demanding a recount of the votes of the Mayorality election of Greater New York two years ago. While the decision of the supreme court declaring the recent law demanding a recount is declared unconstitutional it is not thought that Hearst has entirely given up hope.

The fight is an old one and dates back to the election two years ago when Hearst and McClellan were opposing candidates. First reports gave Hearst the election, but a later count defeated him. Hearst immediately began steps for a recount, the closing scenes of which were played today in the court of appeals.

TRANS-MISSISSIPPI CONGRESS MEETING

Representatives Of Mississippi And Missouri Valley States Meet At Muskogee, Okla.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Muskogee, Okla., Nov. 19.—When the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress met here today, in eighteenth annual session, the large convention hall in which the gathering was called to order was filled to overflowing. The states in the Mississippi and Missouri valleys and those making up the western half of the country were represented by a large number of delegates, while from the east also there was a good attendance.

The program of the first day's proceedings included the annual address of H. D. Loveland of San Francisco, president of the congress, who delivered his message at the opening session. Addresses of welcome and responses occupied the greater part of the remainder of the session.

The sessions will continue four days and all will be open to the public. The importance of a closer commercial union with the Latin republics is one of the chief subjects that will receive the attention of the congress. Inland waterways and a supplementary system of water transportation will be another subject of the session. Forestry as it affects the rights of property holders west of the Mississippi river will occupy much of the time of the session. The creation of a department of mines and mining, with its head a member of the president's cabinet, will again be urged.

Other public questions which will receive more or less attention are as follows: Operation of the national reclamation act, municipal, state and federal ownership, rivers and harbors, federal supervision of the right of the government to secure the cost of operation by a leasing system upon water, land or timber; drainage of submerged public lands, scientific farming as a means of reclaiming the public domain lands in the semi-arid states, the needs of Alaska, situated for New Mexico, trade with the Orient, Western live stock industry, merchant marine, irrigation, good roads, boat culture, immigration, and the Alaska-Yukon Pacific expedition.

For inland waterways.
Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19.—Governors of several states, members of congress and leaders in the commercial life of the chief cities along the Atlantic seaboard met in conference at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel in this city today to perfect a permanent association to advocate the development of a chain of deep waterways the length of the Atlantic coast, from Cape Cod to New Orleans, N. C., with extensions to the southernmost part of Florida. In support of the project it is urged that the completion of such a chain of inland waterways would result in a reduction of freight rates and would be the monopoly enjoyed by the large steamship lines of the bulk of the commerce between the North and the South.

Waterway Conference.
Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 19.—Delegates appointed by the commercial bodies of four states, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and Florida, met in conference here today to discuss the project of an inland waterway. The aim in view is the construction of a canal connecting the waters of the Tennessee and Warrior rivers and extending thence to Birmingham, whence surveys have already been made for a feasible canal to the Warrior river, there connecting with the Gulf.

FOOTBALL MEN TO BE ONLY TONED UP

Coach Hutchins Will Have Entire Charge Of The Varsity Squad This Week.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Nov. 19.—University of Wisconsin football fans will wager sparingly on Wisconsin against Minnesota next Saturday, but will be made odds of two to one for the backs of the players. While the Wisconsin fans are declaring that Wisconsin has a good fighting chance to win in the final struggle of the season, there is no conviction abroad other than that Minnesota will have a merry romp with the inferior badgers. A few hundred dollars of Minnesota money has been offered here at two to one and has not been covered. Assistant Coach McCarthy, who was a spectator at the Minnesota-Carlisle Indian game Saturday, confessed to express hope for a Wisconsin victory. Head Coach Hutchins, who went with his team to Lafayette, where one brilliant run by Cunningham when a forward pass failed on the Wisconsin forward line saved Wisconsin from defeat by the team Chicago threatened 58 to 0, insists that comparisons of scores are most unreliable and that there really has been no opportunity for comparison of Wisconsin with Minnesota. The players declare they will make the fight of their lives and promise to win. "Then the whole community here goes on in the firm assurance that 'there's nothing to it' and guessing is confined to the question of how big the gutter total will be and whether or not the badgers will be so lucky as to get a score.

The Wisconsin team is believed to be better today than at any time before this season, the men are not overtrained, but will not be given particularly hard work this week. Dr. McCarthy will have practically sole charge of the final preparation for the Minnesota game.

CIVIC BODIES MEET AT PROVIDENCE TODAY

America Civic Federation and National Municipal League Meet For Annual Discussion.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Providence, R. I., Nov. 19.—It was a notable gathering that assembled at Brown University today for the opening of the joint annual session of the American Civic Association and the National Municipal League. Those in attendance included scores of prominent men from nearly all sections of the United States and from Canada, drawn together by their common interest in the improvement of American cities and their better municipal government. An idea of the high personnel of the conference may be had from a mere mention of the names of the officers of the two organizations, included among whom are men of such prominence as Attorney General Charles E. Bonaparte, President Edmund J. James of the University of Chicago, Clinton Rogers Woodruff of Philadelphia, George Foster Peck of New York, Frank B. MacVane of Chicago, H. Dickson Burns of New Orleans, James D. Phelan of San Francisco, and Albert Bushnell Hart of Cambridge, Mass.

Among the leading topics for discussion at the four days' meeting of the American Civic Association are the billboard nuisance, school gardens, rural improvements, and the permanent preservation of Niagara Falls in its natural beauty. The Niagara Falls matter, being of interest internationally, is by far the most important of the conventions. Gen. J. Bonaparte, Governor of New York will head a party of speakers who favor the utilization of the falls, while J. Horace McFarland of Harrisburg, Pa., will advocate that the natural beauty of America's most famous waterfall be left unimpaired. A third side of the discussion will be led by John W. Langmuir of Toronto, president of the Queen Victoria Niagara Falls Park, which has charge of the Canadian side, and President Charles N. Dow of the New York State Commission, which has jurisdiction over the American side.

The National Municipal League will discuss "Good Roads," "The Smoke Nuisance," "The Inclusion of National Parties in Municipal Contests," and "Civic Opportunities of Young Men." The sessions of the two conventions will be concluded Friday. When the subject of "Municipal Health and Sanitation" will be considered by health officers from a number of cities.

MUST PAY IN CASH FOR WATER WORKS

Strange Clause In the Option Is Discovered In Sheboygan Deal.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Sheboygan, Wis., Nov. 19.—It was disclosed yesterday that the city's contract for the purchase of the City Water Plant expressly stipulates that the $400,000 purchase price for the plant and the extensions must be paid in actual cash on January 1, not in checks or drafts. Even if the city had been able to sell its bonds, it is said to be practically a physical impossibility to procure the actual cash for such a large amount. This condition of the purchase agreement has not been generally known.

HANRAHAN BELIEVED TO HAVE MERGER COMPLETED

New Big Paper Combine Was Almost Perfected In Appleton Last Evening.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Appleton, Wis., Nov. 19.—The absence from Appleton of John S. Van Nortwick, president of the Combined Locks Paper company who has been called to Batavia, Ill., by the death of a relative, again puts a slight delay upon the work of advancing the project of merging the print paper mills of Wisconsin. Mr. Van Nortwick has been the prime mover of the proposition as far as the manufacturers are concerned. The millionaires Combined Locks paper manufacturer is practically the only one in the state who thus far has openly declared himself favorable toward the proposed merger and has stated that his plant is for sale at any time the merger people want it and at such a figure as competent appraisers might set.

Madison Lawyer Says That Article Referred to in Suit Was Not Libel.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Nov. 19.—John M. Olin of Madison made the opening argument today for the Milwaukee Free Press and Harry Myrick for the defense in the $250,000 damage suit brought by Charles Pfister upon allegation of libel. Mr. Olin characterized as unfair the discussion by Attorney M. Kearney yesterday of the question of reputation. He denied that Mr. Pfister had been charged with being a criminal. Mr. Olin said that Mr. Pfister had not been accused in the alleged libelous articles of being a liar, a briber, a thief or a subornor of witnesses. He declared that the language of the articles was susceptible of two meanings. Mr. Olin said that Kearney in stating the articles as he had, thought to appeal to the prejudices of the jurors.

GAVE AN ADDRESS IN MODERN GREEK

John Garopoulos Surprises Greek Students at University During Lecture.

John Garopoulos, who is employed in George N. Phillips, candy kitchen, attracted considerable attention recently at the lecture of U. S. Consul General to Athens, Mr. Horton, at the state university. Mr. Horton was about to deliver an address in Modern Greek and Professor Charles Foster Smith, head of the Greek department, had just announced his address when young Garopoulos, who was seated in the audience sprang to his feet and in the pursuit of modern greek made an address of welcome to the distinguished visitor. Both professor, Mr. Horton and students were surprised until it was explained that it is a custom in Greece to make an address of welcome to a visitor. Professor Smith is trying to secure a position in Madison for young Garopoulos where he can earn his living and at the same time learn english. Garopoulos comes from Athens and has been in this country but eight months. He is a bright intelligent man and according to Professor Smith speaks the purest of modern Greek.

CASE ROAD-ROLLER IS UNSATISFACTORY

City Council Met as Committee of the Whole Last Evening and Decided to Ship It Back to Madison.

Last evening the city council met as a committee of the whole and decided to ship the Case road-roller back to Madison, from whence it was sent, and ask the Kelly-Springfield and Monarch companies to submit propositions for exchanging one of their machines for the old roller owned by the city which is now out of commission. The Case roller is said to be too light and when the prongs are attached to the big wheel for the purpose of tearing up a hard crust surface it is claimed that they fail to fulfill their mission. The matter of a new fire engine was also brought up but the subject was held over for future consideration. The city will pay a $500 rental for the use of the Case roller.

PHELPS WILL RECOVER FROM NERVOUS COLLAPSE

George H. Phelps.

Findlay, Ohio, Nov. 18.—George H. Phelps, prominent attorney of this city and the man who has standard oil on the brain, is slowly recovering his sanity in a private sanitarium. The Phelps case is one of the most spectacular which the courts of America have ever witnessed. A few days ago while arguing before the superior court a Standard Oil hearing he suffered a complete collapse and it was feared at the time that the trouble might be permanent. Mr. Phelps has been one of the starting prosecutors of the Standard Oil company during the past year and is one of the most brilliant attorneys in the state. It has been said that overwork in standard oil prosecutions is responsible for the present condition and that with proper rest he will entirely recover. Some ten years ago he suffered the same kind of a collapse and a long visit to a sanitarium at St. Louis, Mich., brought him around. The prosecution of the Standard Oil will be considerably embarrassed if Mr. Phelps is to retire.

SURPRISED HER FRIENDS BY APPEARANCE OF HER SISTER

Mrs. George H. Williamson Entertained Twenty-five Ladies Last Evening.

Mrs. George Williamson of 56 St. Lawrence avenue last evening was hostess at a unique party at which her guests, twenty-five intimate friends, were treated to a real ghost, which afterwards "materialized" as Mrs. Frank Tupper, her sister, formerly Miss Grace Kirk of this city, now residing in Newmarket, California. Today being Mrs. Tupper's sixth wedding anniversary, the ladies remained until after twelve to wish her prosperity and good fortune, a delightful two-course luncheon being served at midnight. Mrs. Tupper's appearance was ghostly. After the guests had assembled the lights were dimmed and she made her appearance in the midst of her friends suddenly, none knowing she was in the city.

A small boy who applied for admission to a New York public school, when asked as to his father's business, proudly responded: "He's a book-maker." That afternoon the teacher asked him to carry home a note which said: "Dear Mr. Blank:—Would you please tell me the cost of rebinding a set of Apollon's Cyclopaedia?"

NEW VICE-PRESIDENTIAL TIMBER

Senator Moses E. Clapp.
Not only has Minnesota democratic presidential timber in Governor Johnson, but it also boasts a vice-presidential possibility of splendid proportions in Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota. Senator Clapp has been prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for the vice-presidency next year. He is a native of Indiana. He served three terms as attorney general of Minnesota and in 1896 was the unsuccessful candidate for governor. He was appointed to succeed the late Cassius M. Davis in the United States senate and two years ago he was unanimously re-elected.

Happiest Children.
The happiest children are those who have happy mothers. The young life which grows up in the shadow of a discontented, repining and gloomy mother is like a plant withered by kindly dews. It is apt to be dwarfed and stunted. Even when things are crooked and temptations to be harsh come, let the mother, for her sons' and daughters' sake, try to be happy.

BETTER FINANCIAL CONDITIONS

The radical measures adopted by the President to relieve the money stringency, have already taken effect, and their influence will be felt throughout the country, at an early date.

The Panama canal bond issue of $20,000,000 will be subscribed many times over. New York bankers are prepared to take the entire block, but the bonds are of small denomination and will be popular with small investors, where many of them will be placed.

The President has been criticized for ordering a government bond issue of $100,000,000, at a time when the United States treasury is loaded with money; but he has the authority and believed it to be his duty to use the power of the government to aid in relieving the money stringency.

He is noted for heroic measures, and will be generally commended for the policy adopted. These bonds will add nothing to the government liability, for they will be sold for money, and the proceeds will be ample to redeem them at maturity.

Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou says that bankers may use them as collateral for national bank note issues, and they will be readily subscribed for this purpose.

The sale of these two blocks of bonds will add to the circulating medium $150,000,000, before the first of December, and this, with the great volume of gold, which has been flowing into the country, for the past two weeks, will do much to restore normal conditions.

If the President could issue an order which would result in restoring confidence in ten days, there would be no need of bond issues, for frightened money would find its way back to channels of trade, and the supply would be ample for all requirements.

People who are hoarding money today, and keeping it out of circulation, are responsible for prolonging the money stringency. More than half the currency of the nation is thus being hoarded, and if it continues long in retirement half the business of the country will be demoralized, for all the money is needed to carry on the great industries, which were never more prosperous.

When the manufacturer is unable to secure money for the legitimate wants of business, he is obliged to curtail production, and when the railroads find themselves in the same position, improvements and betterments are at a standstill.

This means enforced idleness for a lot of men, and resulting hard times. All this could be avoided if the money now hoarded by the people, was placed in the banks and restored to circulation.

The humble dollar, the dollar ready for business, is the dollar in demand today. Factories are flooded with orders, granaries are filled with grain, merchandise stocks are complete in every department; in fact, times were never better, and all that is lacking is the disposition to do business.

The banks of the country are sound and entitled to every confidence. The men conducting them are honest and conservative. The policy they have adopted to save their own and other people's money, is a wise policy, and is no regarded by all thinking people.

The banks of the country are the people's clearing house, the place where money is deposited for safe keeping, and where money is borrowed for all legitimate purposes when needed. Mutual service is rendered, and mutual obligations shared.

The banks of the nation are financial bulwark. They touch communities at every point, stimulating industries and aiding in substantial ways the work of development and progress, along every line.

Loss of confidence in the banks of the country, would be the greatest calamity that could come to the nation. It will never occur in this country, for the people possess intelligence and appreciation. The banks of Janesville are stronger today than ever before, and they share confidence as fully as at any time in their history.

TIMES ARE GOOD

A Janesville manufacturer said yesterday that his plant had booked more orders in November this year than last, and that collections were fully as good as a year ago. Another factory reported orders enough on hand to keep the force busy until the first of March.

The beet sugar company paid out to the farmers, a few days ago, $125,000, and the season has just commenced. Under these conditions the man must indeed be a pessimist, who talks about hard times. The times were never better, and the little stringency in currency is not worth considering, when good substitutes are offered, and used as freely.

Times are not only good, but conditions are wholesome, and when everything again becomes normal, it will be found that the nation has profited by the experience.

The value of money has not been half appreciated. Reckless expenditure has been the rule and not the exception. Money has come easy, and gone just as easy.

We have also been extravagant in talk, and unfair in judgment. Class distinction has been recognized and encouraged. One of the important lessons of the hour is mutual dependence. Capital and labor will come to a better understanding, and commendation will take the place of agitation and criticism.

In the meantime it is well to remember that times are good. The money is here, the wealth never more abundant, and the same people present.

Look on the bright side and go ahead, and the bridge which looks so dangerous, will vanish from sight, like dew in the morning sun.

The Currency Question in Captivity Center.

Down here in Captivity Center we have had a hot debate.

On reforming of our money so enough will be circulated.

It was started by their Hawkins, who allowed twice his bullet.

That brass checks that called for liquor would bring quick and sure relief.

Old Lemo Star Thomas argued from the gold and silver side.

And the talk got kinder heated, till the barkeep runs to hide.

Then the lead begins to scatter and we sidestepped stray shot.

While the able-bodied clapped in, just to keep the trouble hot.

So we argued for some minutes, and and we laid out Chinese, John.

(Someone said a "pro" had done it, and still other said a "con").

But we seed it wasn't settled and a supply was no use.

So, Fred Johnson calls us underneath a flag of truce.

"It's plain," said Pecca, smooth-like as we tucked our guns away.

"Tat a compromise, good townsfolk, is the way to save the day."

So let's appeal to Congress, with our pens and with our lips.

To stretch our legal tender with a lot more poker chips!"

RICHMOND

Richmond, Nov. 19.—Misses Ethel Calkins and Millie Holbrook visited friends at Spring Prairie the first of the week.

Rev. Chas. of Whitewater occupied the pulpit at the M. E. church Sunday.

Mrs. G. M. Holbrook and daughter were recent guests at the home of Miss Phoebe in Darien.

Miss Ruth Cavanaugh of Whitewater spent from Friday till Sunday with Miss Mildred Kenmitt.

Some of the supplies for the new telephone line have arrived and as soon as the poles are obtained work will begin at once.

Mrs. Clara Dunbar and children have returned from Indiana, and will make their home at Byron Dunbar's.

A Lottery Winner's Celebration.

A Rome correspondent tells of an all-night banquet (eight p. m. to eight a. m.) given to 100 guests by a Swiss commercial traveler, who has won the Italian lottery prize of $40,000. They put away 278 bottles of champagne between them, which is at the rate of two bottles and three-quarters per man.

Disappointed.

"I don't like this party line telephone half as well as I thought I was going to," said Mrs. Snower. "Every time I hear it ring, and take down the receiver to listen to what's going on, I hear somebody say: 'Get off the line, there, you! Quit bugging in!' I declare, it's only an aggravation!"

Good Cookery and Happiness.

"Girls," said London's lord mayor recently, "should be taught to cook. The better the cook, the happier the husband."

Easy Entertaining.

One woman who does her own work and yet likes to entertain a good deal has brought order out of chaos and made the work lighter for herself by limiting her dinner to three hot dishes. She serves first lead cantaloupe, grape fruit or oysters, according to the season; then meat, potatoes and one vegetable. Salad and dessert are prepared beforehand, and so is the coffee. She serves all but the three hot dishes—which, of course must be brought from the kitchen—on a small serving table at her side, which has two shelves beneath it and an outstanding bracket shelf for the clean and used dishes. The coffee, in a French coffee pot, stands on one of the brackets of the serving table and boils merrily until required.

Mistakes We Make.

Moths do not eat furs or cloths. They lay their eggs in these rich stuffs, and it is the worm from the eggs that does the eating. There are no shooting stars. Stars are immense bodies, many times larger than the earth. The so-called shooting stars that glide so splendidly across the nocturnal sky are meteors—fragments weighing as a rule, but a few pounds. Sunstroke is really heat apoplexy. It is the moisture in the air, rather than the actual rays of the sun, that causes sunstroke. In dry climates, such as Cairo's, with a summer temperature of 122 degrees in the shade, sunstroke is much rarer than with us.

Modern Turpentine Gathering.

Twenty million turpentine cups are used in the pine forests of the south to catch the flow of resin from the trees, and 7,000,000 are added each year. These simple-looking cups, which are not unlike flower pots in size and shape, indicate a rapid and highly important change in the American method of gathering turpentine, due to the need of economy in using all forest products, and to the application of science in an old-fashioned industry.

Forty-eight to the Bad.

"Yes, it was hard luck. He fell in love with her at first sight, bought a 50-trip ticket, and was refused on his second visit."—Browning's Magazine.

TRIAL OF FIFIELD

ACTION CONTINUED

Until the Next Term of Court—Defendants Ask Supreme Court to Direct a Change of Venue.

By agreement among the attorneys the trial of the $25,000 damage action brought by Miss Winifred Fifield against the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co. and the C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co. has been continued for the term. Meantime the defendants have started before the supreme court another mandamus action, this time to compel a change of venue to Milwaukee county, motion for which was denied by Judge Grimm. The taking of evidence in the case of J. W. Wheel or vs. John P. Milner was resumed today with the prospect that the case would not be finished before tomorrow. It is possible that a jury for the trial of the criminal action of the State vs. William Miller may be drawn late this afternoon and the trial commenced tomorrow morning.

If so, you will be pleased to note that your needs in the Dental line may be easily met.

If you select the Right Dentist, Dr. Richards has built up the largest Dental practice in the city during the past 7 years.

By delivering three things.

1ST. PAINLESS DENTISTRY.

Just this "A. M." one of the most prominent and influential citizens of Janesville consulted him and had an abscessed tooth extracted and said in departing:

"Dr. Richards, you did that very nicely and satisfactorily to me."

2NDLY. GOOD, HONEST WORK.

Time tells the tale in all things and time only shows up the durability of his work.

3RDLY. REASONABLE PRICES.

You no doubt have paid $10 each for those gold crowns in your mouth. Dr. Richards has put out hundreds in this city for just $5 each, and guarantees them to be the same in every respect—quality of gold, thickness of gold, purity, etc., etc.

What's the use of paying twice as much as necessary, when by consulting Dr. Richards you may get the same work at a less price and all done painlessly in the bargain.

LOCAL NIMRODS HAVE HAD GOOD FORTUNE

Many Deer Arrive in Janesville from the North Woods this Morning.

Janesville hunters who have gone north into the woods to hunt deer are beginning to return with their trophies of the chase. W. B. Williams who represents the local ammunition company and is one of the crack shots of the country came back with two fine bucks. His companion Frank J. Kane also shot two more. Mr. Williams and Mr. Kane were members of a party of eleven, nine from Ashland and themselves who hunted west of Ashland and the party secured twenty-two deer in all. It was long range shooting according to Mr. Williams and all used the ammunition he represents. Chas. Kline also has two deer which were shot at Eagle River. Nothing has been heard from the Kenosha Club where many Janesville hunters are camping. The first word received was from City Marshall Appleby who wired back for his hunting license which he had forgotten showing that he expects to see a deer or so anyway.

Injustice to Dietrich: Friends of Dietrich, center on the J. H. S. football team, claimed that some injustice was done him in the account of Saturday's game with Ft. Atkinson appearing in Monday's Gazette. It is alleged that Monahan's touchdown for the "Fort" in the second half instead of being made after "two tries at Dietrich," as reported, resulted from a misreading of the referee's signals. Also, in the Fort's trick play that went wrong in the first half, Atwood is credited with fumbling on the ball, instead of Dietrich, to whom the credit is said to belong.

BITS OF HUMOR

HER SIMPLE REQUEST.

"I am going to ask a great favor of you," she said, hesitatingly.
"It is already granted," he answered, devotedly.
"A very great favor," she repeated, as if doubtful of the propriety of stating it. "You're sure you won't think it presumptuous or forward in me?"
"Never," he answered. "I glory in this evidence of your trust and confidence. Only tell me what I can do for you."
"Well," she replied, with evident reluctance, "would you mind getting up off that rustic bench? Papa painted it this afternoon, and he will be awfully provoked if he has to do it over again."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

Chitman—Aren't the mosquitoes pretty thick?
Landlord Bonham—No, rather thin. I should say, but they'll fatten up some when we get a few more boarders, I guess.

A DOUBTFUL INVITATION.

Stranger (to extremely near-sighted old gent, who has asked him the way)—I'm a gent that way myself, into. Better come with me, there's a lot of rough characters about.

IN THE ANCIENT DAYS.

The Maid—Don't hear that? 'Tis father. My, sweetheart, fly!
The Courtier—You mean fool!
The Maid—As you like; but this is no time for entomological distinctions.

A GOOD IDEA.

The Minister—I suppose, doctor, if folks did just what you tell them you would have a great deal less trouble?
The Doctor—Oh, yes, I would tell some of them to pay their bills.

SHE PREFERRED HER OWN.

Professor—I know I am not handsome, but if we were married you would get to like me; my looks would grow upon you.
Maude—Your looks grow upon me! Heaven forbid!

THE MUSICAL CRITIC.

"I am surprised, sir, that you write criticism of concerts you do not attend!"
"What's the difference, madam? I don't know anything about music any way!"—Jugend.

KEEPING HIM QUIET.

Tired Business Man—I've a splitting headache. For goodness' sake, take these things away from Harry.
Wife—I dare not, dear. It is the only way to keep him quiet.

CASE OF FALSE PRETENSES.

First Motorist—Hallo, old chap, you down here? I suppose you are putting up at the "Royal" where I am?
Second Motorist—No, fact is, my car broke down just outside the Temperance hotel, so I had to pretend it was there I had intended to put up.

AN AUTUMN FEAST.

Wife (peevishly)—Ah, the burning of the leaves in the park, the autumn! What does the aroma remind you of, my dear?
Hubby—The cigars you bought me for a birthday present.

IN THE LIMELIGHT

EX-GOTHAM RAILWAY MANAGER

Herbert H. Vreeland, president of the Metropolitan Securities Co., the holding company of a number of the street railway concerns now under investigation by the public utilities commission in New York city, who resigned as manager of the New York Railway company under the federal court receivers, who appointed him to that post immediately after they took charge of the property of the insolvent corporation, is said to have presented to himself a bill for $25,000 salary and expenses, to have audited it, himself and to have signed the check to pay it, without itemizing the expense account. This was testified to by Emanuel E. Quigg, who dispensed $217,307 of traction money "to mold public opinion" in favor of the traction companies.

Vreeland is said to be a direct descendant of Michael Jansen Vreeland, who came to the United States in 1836 from Hockhausen, near Brabant. Mr. Vreeland began his career as an assistant on a delivery wagon. His first railway work was shoveling gravel. He worked his way up to general manager. William C. Whitney first brought Vreeland prominently into the limelight by selecting him to bring order out of chaos in the many street railway lines which Whitney controlled. All these lines were changed from the old horse car and cable systems to electricity without a hitch on the part of Vreeland. Then Whitney, gaining complete confidence in the man, entrusted him with the financial and legal details of the organization of the Metropolitan Securities Co. and the leasing of the Metropolitan line. Then came other consolidations.

Vreeland stands six feet two. He is a tireless, driving worker and a disciplinarian of the sternest kind. He encouraged the organization of the 17,000 traction employees into the Mutual Benefit association, and for a number of years was president of the association. He also put into effect a pension system, the only one of its kind on any street railway in the world, to take care of the superannuated employees of the system.

DRINK MIXER TO MAGNATE

From a mixer of drinks to a dealer in jugglery is the life story in brief of Anthony N. Brady. Anthony N. Brady is the man who, it was brought out in the Metropolitan Street Railway company investigation, sold the Metropolitan paper street car line for $905,607.19. As a wearer of the big white apron Brady used to set the glasses out on the bar for some of the men he is now interested with in some of the biggest deals that are transacted in Wall street.

Brady's first job was that of bartender in the bar of the old Delavan house in Albany. There are those who yet remember that when the young man across the mahogany mixed a cocktail he did it so well that the taste of the drink lingered long. Also young Brady was obliging and of a friendly disposition and he soon won the favor of many of the stockholders and capitalists who resorted to the state capital, and their influence helped him in good stead in later years.

The bartender saved his money and in a few years he had enough to start a tea store. He made a study of tea (one of Brady's characteristics is that when he becomes interested in an enterprise he masters all its intricacies) and his store was soon such a success that he established others in Albany and then branched out into other towns.

About this time Brady saw the possibilities of granite as a material for paving and building, and secured possession of all the quarries that were available. There was a boom in granite, and Brady was quickly rated as a rich man. Next Brady developed an interest in Albany gas; and he went to Roswell P. Flower, whose acquaintance he had made in his bartending days, with a scheme for controlling Albany lighting. The banker politician financed the scheme, and both men made a vast amount of money out of it.

STANDARD OIL OFFICIAL

Charles M. Pratt, who has been giving the most startling evidence in the suit to "trust" the Standard Oil trust, is one of the younger men who has done in comparative obscurity the real work of the great trust. So carefully has he avoided the limelight, that few people have ever heard of him, although he has long been a director and secretary of the company.

To the surprise of everyone, Mr. Pratt has been a frank witness. He admitted that when the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio was "dissolved" by the courts, it was simply reorganized. The stockholders of the old company were the stockholders of the new, and each held his proportion of the stock. It was the same company under a new name.

Mr. Pratt also let light upon the Texan situation. The Standard Oil company has been driven out of Texas. It was required that any new oil company seeking to do business there should be required to file an affidavit that it had no connection with Standard Oil. When the Waters-Pierce Co. applied for a charter, J. J. Clay-Pierce filed an affidavit of the kind required. It was learned that the company was in some way connected with Standard Oil and a warrant was issued for Pierce's arrest.

Mr. Pratt gave a full explanation of this matter. He said he had received the C. M. Pratt Investment Co., the sole business of which was to receive all the earnings of the Waters-Pierce Co. for investment, and that he invested them by handing them over to the Standard Oil. Thus the Waters-Pierce Co. was paying all its earnings into the coffers of Standard Oil, although there was no mention of the latter company in its books.

Mr. Pratt is the son of Charles Pratt, one of the founders of the Standard Oil Co. He has accumulated considerable wealth of his own, for while the older Pratt left 22,802 shares of Standard Oil stock, his son has now accumulated 5,000 shares of his own. Mr. Pratt has two sons at college, and if their tastes lie in the same direction as their father's they too will enter the Standard Oil employ in overalls and learn the business from the ground up, just as their father and their uncle did, for Mr. Pratt's younger brother is now in the refining department of the company.

MAY BE AMBASSADOR

David Jayne Hill, minister to the Netherlands, it is reported, will succeed Charlemagne Tower as ambassador to Germany, taking over all the numerous problems that are continually arising from the restrictions placed upon American trade, and the annoyances to which German-American citizens are subjected in the Fatherland. Mr. Hill has several qualifications which will fit him for the post. He has made a special study of European relations, has a charming manner and speaks German fluently. Mrs. Hill is descended from German forefathers, but the family has been American since the Revolution. She combines wit, beauty and a fascinating personality, and speaks German, French and Spanish as fluently as she does her native tongue.

The Hills are not so wealthy as their predecessors in Berlin, but they have enough money to enable them to entertain in a way to do credit to their country in a capital where economy is the rule and an ambassador is able to live on his pay—if he wants to.

Mr. Hill was a college professor at the age of 23. He served ten years as president of the University of Rochester, resigning that position to travel in Europe and study international law. His work in organizing a school of diplomacy in connection with the George Washington university attracted favorable notice, and in 1898 Mr. McKinley made him assistant secretary of state. It was said in Washington that he was not liked by President Roosevelt, and when the latter sent him as minister to Switzerland it was said to be a case of reducing him. Two years later he was transferred to the more important post of minister to the Netherlands.

Stone quarrymen of Joliet, Ill., numbering 350, quit on reduction of wages from $2.00 to $1.75 a day.

Twenty-four Russian political prisoners, who, after beating down the guards, escaped, arrived in New York.

The supreme court of the United States, in the suit over the consolidation of the cities of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, declared the act valid.

In the course of his first lecture on temperance at Minneapolis Frank M. Eddy, a former congressman from Minnesota, said that drink had cost him the governorship of the state.

Storm Bull, professor of steam engineering in the Wisconsin State university, died after an illness of six weeks from cancer of the stomach. He was a nephew of Ole Bull, the famous violinist.

A resolution petitioning the nation government to retain the motto "In God We Trust" on gold coins was adopted by the members of the Presbyterian Ministers' association of New York city.

Levi C. Lincoln, president of the Wisconsin Electric Light & Power company of Providence, R. I., who had confessed to the embezzlement of funds, was sentenced on two charges, to serve a term of two years' imprisonment on each charge.

LA POLLETTE BOOM IN ST. PAUL.

Launched at Banquet Given by Ship-owners' Association.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 19.—The presidential boom of Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, received its Minnesota launching Monday night at a banquet given at the Commercial club of this city under the auspices of the Minnesota Shippers' and Receivers' association.

Among the prominent Minnesota Republicans present were United States Senator Moses Clapp and Lieut. Gov. A. O. Eberhardt. Senator La Follette was unable to be present, but Wisconsin was represented by Irvine L. Lenroot and J. A. Frear, secretary of state.

CALABRIA IS SHAKEN AGAIN.

Two Earthquake Shocks Drive People from Italian Towns.

Reggio di Calabria, Italy, Nov. 19.—The province of Reggio di Calabria was visited by two severe earthquakes Monday afternoon. They were especially severe at Brancaccio, Ferusano and Bianco, and a number of houses were shattered or damaged. The people, who had returned to their homes after the earthquake of October 27, again became panic stricken and fled to the country. Some of them are camped in the open air, while others have taken refuge in subterranean cellars. The gravity of the situation is increased by the inclemency of the weather.

Class President is Kidnaped.
Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 19.—W. L. Martin, president of the plebe class of the Carnegie Technical school, after being beaten into unconsciousness, bound and gagged, was kidnaped Monday night from the office of a doctor to whom he had gone for treatment. This was to prevent his attendance at the class banquet Tuesday night.

TAFT DINES WITH GEN. PFLUGG.

Declines Emperor's Invitation to the Isle of Wight.

Vladivostok, Nov. 19.—Secretary Taft came ashore twice Monday, drove through the city and did some shopping. He was accompanied by an escort of Russian troops. At night the secretary dined with Gen. Pflug, the commander of the forces.

Through Charlemagne Tower, the American ambassador to Germany, Emperor William has communicated his regret at being absent from Berlin when Secretary Taft passes through Europe, and he invited the secretary to be his guest at the Isle of Wight. This invitation Mr. Taft had to decline on account of President Roosevelt's urging him to hasten his return, but it is believed that inquiries from the French and British governments as to why the secretary could not visit them also influenced him to change his plans.

An audience with Emperor Nicholas at St. Petersburg, where Secretary Taft expects to arrive December 3, has been arranged. It has now been decided that the secretary will leave here Tuesday afternoon on his long journey overseas.

The unrest among the soldiers quartered here has not abated and it is predicted that there will be another outbreak inside of a week. It is reported that 200 mutineers were executed by hanging last week.

Not Such a Fool After All.

A well-known surgeon was somewhat quick-tempered if he found a student exceptionally dull, and on one occasion when he had been more than usually irritated by a student's stupidity asked him how many times he thought a fool could hear a name mentioned without remembering it. "I don't know," replied the student; "how many times could you yourself?"

Coal Supply of India.

India will eventually control the oriental coal markets. At present Japan is her only competitor, but Japan's coal area is only 6,000 square miles, with an annual output of 10,000,000 tons. India's present output is not so much, but her possibilities as a coal producer are far greater than Japan's, even including the Fushun mines in Manchuria.

RYAN BLAMES WALL STREET.

Stock Gamblers, Not President, Responsible for Stringency.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 19.—William J. Bryan, in his speech here before the Jackson club Monday night, declared with marked emphasis that President Roosevelt should not be held responsible for the present financial stringency. Mr. Bryan placed the blame on the "Wall street gamblers."

"The common people and not the Wall street gamblers should handle this situation," Mr. Bryan said. "The man who will draw out his money now when he does not need it is in the same class as the man who would refuse to aid his country in time of war. This is a time when great patriotism is needed."

Mr. Bryan expressed himself as in favor of the postal savings bank, and said that he believed it to be a better plan than an asset currency.

It was a late hour when Mr. Bryan began his address. He said that after serving in two campaigns he did not feel like volunteering again, although he would accept the presidential nomination in 1908 if "drafted."

Killed in Battle with Police.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 19.—Samuel Saluta, an Italian, proprietor of a pool room, died late Monday, and Lieutenant-Inspector William D. Hilley is in a hospital suffering from a serious pistol wound in his face, as the result of an encounter at Saluta's home. Saluta, it is alleged, fired two shots at two of his neighbors and, when officers reached his home, opened fire upon them. The officers fired six shots through the door, three of which struck the Italian.

Man Drowns; Shock Kills Mother.

Deavor, Col., Nov. 19.—On the D. A. H. ranch, in Adams county, eight miles north of this city, George Croker, foreman of the ranch, was drowned by the capsizing of his boat while duck hunting. His mother, Mrs. Sarah A. Croker, aged 65 years, of Millerton, New Brunswick, who was paying a visit to her son, fell dead from the shock when informed of his death.

BEES MARK MAN'S COMING.

Wild Ones All Descended from Those Once Domesticated.

All the honey bees in this country having originally been imported from Europe or Asia, there is no racial difference between the wild ones and the domesticated; those that live in trees are simply the descendants of those that from time to time have taken "French leave" from their owners' hives and reverted to a state of nature. The vast bulk of the wild bees are of the German or black race, while the standard domesticated bee is the Italian; but that, however, is only because the Germans were the first to be introduced here. Just when the German came is in doubt, but it was some time in the seventeenth century; certainly it was not until near the close of the eighteenth century that any bees were found west of the Mississippi. The Indians used to say they could mark the advance of the white man by the appearance of bees in the woods. The Italian bees were first imported in 1860. Better tempered and more industrious than the Germans, they have become popular with apiarists; but as many still keep the German bee, and others have the hybrid formed by the crossing of the two races, while countless Italians now have taken to the woods, there to breed more hybrids. It is clear that there is no sure way of distinguishing between the wild bee and the domesticated.—Outing Magazine.

PENALTIES OF GREAT PLACE.

Thrice Servants Those Who Have Risen to High Estate.

Men in great place are thrice servants—servants of the sovereign or state, servants of fame, and servants of business; so as they have no freedom neither in their persons, nor in their actions, nor in their times. It is a strange desire to seek power, and to lose liberty; or to seek power over others and to lose power over a man's self. The rising unto place is laborious, and by pains men come to greater pains, and it is sometimes base and by indignities men come to dignities. The standing is slippery and the regret is either a downfall or at least an eclipse, which is a melancholy thing. "Cum non sis qui fueris, non esse cur velle vivere." (Since you are not what you were, there is no reason why you should wish to live.) Nay, retire—men cannot when they would, neither will they when it were reason; but are impatient of private even in age and sickness which requires the shadow; like old townsmen, that will be still sitting at their street door, though thereby they offer age to scorn.—From Lord Bacon's Essay, "Of Great Place."

The Style in Clocks.

"There are funny things about the clock business," said the salesman.

A POLITICAL FOOTBALL LINE-UP.

from Connecticut. "Nine-tenths of the clocks that I sold on my last trip were eight-day clocks. Everybody seems to have serious objections nowadays to winding clocks. If I could provide customers with 30-day clocks or 60-day clocks, without too much additional cost, they would prefer them. The demand for long-distance timepieces, represents a decided change in taste. A year or so ago everybody was clamoring for 24-hour clocks, on the ground that they kept better time. Now, if I could put on the market some of those one-year and five-year clocks that venture some manufacturers turn out now and then as curiosities they would prove ready sellers."

Open Air Sleeping.

It is not too much to say that to the delicate, highly strung, easily knocked out individual the advantages of sleeping in the open air are enormous. Pallid cheeks take on a ruddy hue, colds are unknown, nerves are forgotten, and irritability becomes a phase of the past. A little hut and a little perseverance are the only necessities, and the result is assured.—Country Life.

Heart-Interest.

Men love naturally all that comes from the heart, all that is great, all that dazzles, and even all that is strange. A heroic act or a single act of generosity moves them infallibly and provokes their enthusiasm. They see these acts; they do not see the justice in the heart of the just.—Jules Simon.

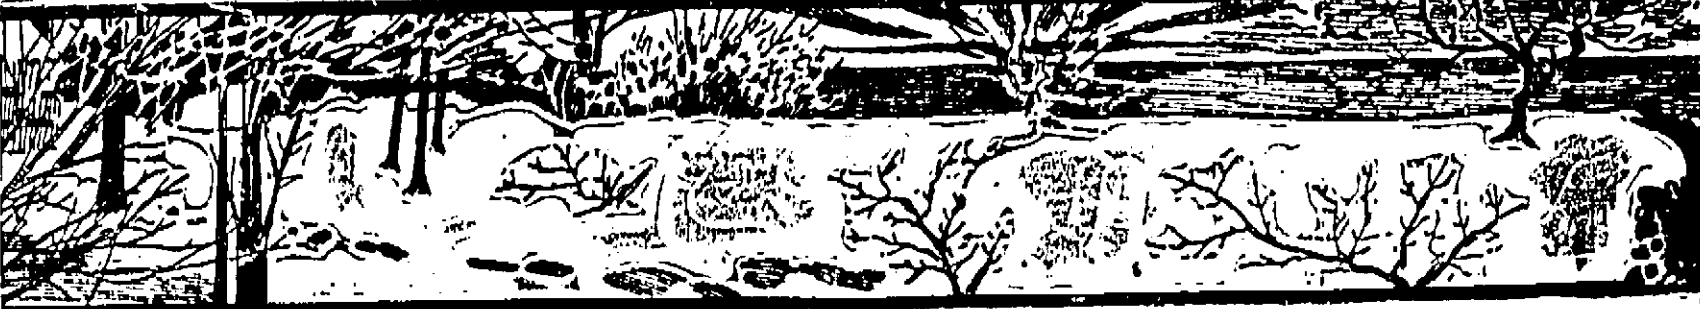

Origin of "Friday Face."

Friday, as a fast day, is responsible for the derisive nickname, "Friday face," formerly in common use and applied to sour-visaged persons. The earliest mention of the word occurs in an old comedy entitled "Wily Beguiled," of 1600, "What a Friday faced slave it is. I think in my conscience his face never keeps holiday." And yet "holiday" was originally "holy day." Good Friday being the paramount holy day in the Christian year.

Only Road to Success.

If you want to succeed in the world you must make your own opportunities as you go on. You cannot commit greater folly than to sit by the roadside until some one comes along and invites you to ride with him to wealth or influence.—John B. Gough.

Father John's
Medicine
For Coughs and Colds

PERSONAL

"I have taken twelve large bottles of Father John's Medicine. I have been troubled with Asthma and Hay Fever almost all my life. I commenced to take the medicine last December, and have not had an attack since. It is the best medicine I have ever taken. (Signed) Mrs. Helen T. Hogan, 352 Willow St., Dradbrook, Pa."

SIMPLE REMEDY KILLS' BACILLI IN THE SKIN.

Oil of Wintergreen Properly Combined Makes Burning, Itching Eczema-tous Skin Pure and Healthy.

The simplest remedy for Eczema, Itch and other skin diseases known to the medical profession has for its basic ingredient that simple liquid, oil of wintergreen. This remedy kills the bacilli which causes burning, itching skin almost instantly. The medicinal value of the oil of wintergreen has been known for many years to physicians, but it remained for a Chicago specialist, Dr. Deaneur D. Deaneur, to combine this oil with other soothing remedies for the treatment of Eczema, psoriasis, hives, itchy, ring worm and other kindred diseases of the skin. One application of this clean, pure liquid known as D. D. D. Prescription at once stops the awful itch. The relief is instantaneous.

Here is what John A. White of 806 Mills street, Creston, Ia., says of D. D. D. Prescription in a letter written June 15, 1907:

"I have just been cured by D. D. D. Prescription of the worst case of Eczema a man could have. I used only nine bottles and it did the work after I had spent over $500.00 with the best doctors in the country and got no relief. Let any person suffering with skin diseases write me personally. Such cases are these acute, troublesome. We can absolutely vouch for D. D. D. We know it instantly takes away the itch and we know it cures. All the cures furthermore seem to be permanent and at any rate just as soon as you apply a drop of the liquid the itch is gone. If you have any kind of skin rash or other skin trouble call at our store and we shall be glad to hand you free of charge one of the D. D. D. pamphlets on skin diseases."

LARGE AUDIENCE FOR FORREST CARR

Chicago Basso-Cantante Again Presented in an Excellent Program Before the Apollo Club.

Forrest Duhney Carr of Chicago, basso-cantante, made his second bow to a Janesville audience, under Apollo club auspices, at library hall last evening. It was a most successful event. Carr is a native of Italy, and a great blower of sound, vocal like to overblown more barriers of wood and plaster, but this happened just now and then as only the Handel selections and Carr's "The Victor" were dramatic in character. Sidney Homer's requiem with the yearning, wistful farewell—"Home from the sea is the sailor, and the hunter is home from the hill"—of Robert Louis Stevenson, was given with a depth of insight and artistic shading of expression which made it only the favorite of all the numbers of the evening, and Mr. Carr repeated it as an encore at the conclusion of the program. President O'Brien, after giving a strong endorsement of the Jaffo string quartet, which comes here Dec. 2, from one of the Milwaukee papers, announced that the program committee had secured the following dates:

Dec. 10—Frederick Martin, basso, of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York. This program is to be on a Thursday evening and will begin at 8:30 so as to accommodate church-goers.

Jan. 6—Edward Dexter Perry of New York. This program will be on a Monday evening.

Jan. 22—William Mer, who appeared in the concert at the opera-house last season.

Feb. 21—Flora M. Fletcher, prima donna last season with the San Carlos opera company and a dramatic soprano of high attainment. Calvin Lambert, official pianist of the Chicago Apollo club, will accompany her.

March 3—Mr. and Mrs. Reed. Mrs. Reed is a fine soprano vocalist and is not a stranger here.

All records in locomotive construction have been broken by the completion at the Schenectady works of the American Locomotive company of the heaviest engine in the world. It is for the Erie railroad. The engine is in reality two engines combined in one. The rear-engine is carried in a frame which is rigidly attached to the boiler, while the forward engine is carried in a frame which is not rigidly attached to the boiler and is, in fact, the brake which revolves around the center pivot located at the head of the high pressure cylinder. So powerful is the locomotive that it cannot be used to pull trains because the coupling pins could not stand the strain. Accordingly this mammoth engine will be used for pushing service and will operate on the Susquehanna hill. The total weight in working order of the locomotive is 410,000 pounds. The locomotive has 10 drive wheels arranged in two groups; while the boiler or pressure is 215 pounds and drive wheels 51 inches in diameter. This engine will develop a minimum traction power of 94,800 pounds. This means that one of these locomotives could haul on the level 210 freight cars or a train about one mile and one-half long. The biggest locomotive in the world before the completion of this Erie engine was used on the N. & O., and was nicknamed Maud after the famous mule who lifts everything which comes in his way.

CHAPTER XVI.

SEATED on the side of his bed, his lamp burning on the bureau at his elbow, Dr. Kinross, in the small hours of the morning, read the paper he had found in the haunted room.

Both the wording of it and the penmanship gave evidence that the writer was a person of some education, though at times her phraseology was stilted, bookish and even a little melodramatic.

The child, Eunice, is not ours. For the sake of the money reward which we have would undoubtedly be offered for her recovery by her wealthy father, who stole her away from her home. Her mother died at her birth, and I, being a trained nurse, was employed by the father to come into the house and take entire charge of the baby. When she was a year old I secretly married her father's secretary, whose learning and brilliant talents attracted me almost to the point of hypnotizing me, and together we hatched the scheme of stealing the child. A man of extraordinary money from the father. But an unforeseen event thwarted our well laid plan. On the very night of our flight with the child her father was killed in a railroad accident. Somehow the story got out that he had his child with him, and the mutilated body of a year-old girl was actually found in the wreck and identified as Eunice by some of the servants of the household. In this turn of affairs his entire large fortune went to the half sister of Eunice's father, a single woman of about thirty who lived alone in Washington.

We wrote to her and told her what we had done and asked her to give us the child for a certain sum, but whether she didn't believe us or whether it served her purpose better not to have the child recovered I do not know. We have never had any answer to our repeated communications to her. It is now four months since we came away with the child, and we have accomplished nothing.

We are living here incognito on this out of the way Pennsylvania farm. It is my wish to take Eunice home. The lady has seen the child several times in her visits of a few days each to her brother's home in New York, and of course she would remember me as her caretaker. She always seemed very fond of Eunice, who is her namesake. I do not believe she would deliberately do her wrong of keeping her out of her inheritance. If I do not soon take Eunice to her the child will have changed past recognition. I cannot longer endure the burden of the crime I have committed. I must make amends. But my husband will not let me expose us both to the risk of punishment, and he still hopes to make profit out of the child. His says he will murder me before he will let me confess and atone for my crime. I have done this wrong of myself. I have been let into it through my insane passion for this diabolically clever and conscienceless man. Tonight must decide my fate. I shall either depart from this place with the child or else I shall die either by my own hand or that of my husband. I leave this confession, which I trust will escape my husband's eye and fall into the hands of honest people.

I shall now write here every fact which may serve to restore Eunice to her rights. The sum of $1,000 which I took from my employer's desk the night I did will be found pinned to the child's clothing to be used in paying the expenses which may be involved in restoring her to her aunt or, in case of failure to prove her identity, to support her until she is able to take care of herself.

"Four thousand dollars!" mused Kinross, his face pale with the excitement of the story. "The yearly interest of that sum would have more than paid the girl's board in this meager household. And they have made a slave of her, not even allowing her to go to the public school!"

He felt a ghastly gleam in the thought of confronting old Morningstar with his discovery.

He read on:

The father of the child was the late B. S. Wolcott, Esq., of the New York city bar. His half sister is Miss Eunice Wolcott of ———— avenue, Washington.

Miss Wolcott can identify the child by the two tiny moles on her neck just under her left ear, for I once heard her say when she had the baby on her lap that Mr. Wolcott had two moles in exactly the same spot.

Nervous Indigestion

The action of digestion is controlled by nerves leading to the stomach. When they are weak, the stomach is deprived of its energy. It has no power to do its work. If you want permanent relief, you must restore this energy. Dr. Miles' Nervine restores nervous energy, and gives the organs power to perform their functions.

"For many years I was an acute sufferer from nervous indigestion; at times I was so despondent life seemed almost a burden. I tried all kinds of remedies and various physicians with little or no relief. Until one night last summer I saw Dr. Miles' Nervine and Heart Cure advertised. I resolved to make one more trial which I did in the purchase of one bottle of Nervine and one of Heart Cure. In a few days I began to feel better, which encouraged me so much that I continued the medicine until I had taken more than a dozen bottles. I am very much improved in every way; in body, mind and spirits since. I feel a special point to recommend the medicine, and I feel a sincere pleasure in knowing that several persons have been benefited through my recommendations."

The little necklace and locket which will be found on the child were given her by Miss Wolcott and contain her photograph and the child's name.

I solemnly affirm that what I have here written is true.

BEATRICE DANIELS.

A date twenty years back was alluded to the paper.

Kinross' heart thumped in his breast, and he sat transfixed as the hand which held the paper fell to his knees.

Seated on the side of his bed.

Eunice was the niece of Miss Eunice Wolcott, whom he had known all his life. They had lived neighbors in the city of Washington. Eunice a Wolcott! Incredible! The foster child of the Morningstars a Wolcott, then when a prodigious race had never developed out of that lost land of immigrants that the Mayflower had dumped on Plymouth Rock! Eunice was an heiress! If her identity could be proved, and Miss Wolcott would own her. He suddenly saw, with clearness, the plight of Miss Wolcott in this discovery of her niece, and a cold fear crept over him that there might be some difficulty in restoring to Eunice her inheritance. It would have been difficult enough if it had been attempted at the time this confession was made. But after all these years? It had been a youth of eighteen when Miss Wolcott had come into her fortune, and he remembered well how it had changed her mode of living from a style of modest dignity to a luxurious elegance. Now, after all these years of lawlessness, could she go back to a simple habit of life? And then the hurt to her pride of race (which in the absence of anything more substantial to be proud of she had nourished and brooded upon almost morbidly) to have to own kinship with a girl reared in such a sordid environment as that of this farm, with less knowledge of the world than any servant of her establishment. He had a lifetime memory of Miss Wolcott's motherly warnings to himself in his callow youth against "dragging in the mire" his fine old family name by his humiliating lack of that "exclusiveness" which, she assured him, had characterized his mother of blessed memory and both his paternal and maternal grandmothers. It was on the occasion of his having brought home from college for the holidays that splendid fellow, John Lowry, a diamond in the rough, and in his pride in Lowry's friendship having taken him to call on Miss Wolcott, who, with her literary tastes and extensive travel, he was sure would appreciate his brilliant college mate, instead of which he had brought on himself long philosophic homilies upon the duty incumbent upon "the old families" to preserve their exclusiveness and not to admit into their sacred circle any vulgar new element. When, with youthful enthusiasm, he had rebutted her theories as narrow, old-fashioned and so forth she had planned him down to the fundamental question, "Do you or do you not believe in blood, Peter Kinross?"

"I do! The blood that makes true men and women, not the blood that makes nobles!" With which parting shot he had left her, and the coolness between them thereafter had never been overcome.

He remembered his cynical reflection at the time of her brother's death, "She'll think the angels in heaven will feel honored at the arrival of a Wolcott!"

Yet he found himself just now, perhaps, unconsciously patting himself on the head for his perspicacity in having recognized that Eunice was of no common stock.

He himself had no doubt of the truth of the "confession" and of Eunice's identity with the stolen child. But while the moral evidence seemed clear and convincing, would it be sufficient without the legal proof which he recognized was lacking to persuade Miss Wolcott of her duty to give up a fortune after nineteen years' possession of it? Here would be a test of the "good blood" of which she was so proud.

"It would be more than common honesty; it would be heroic. But if she 'takes after' her niece she won't lack the heroism!"

The fact that the communications to Miss Wolcott of Beatrice Daniels, the trained nurse, had been ignored did not promise well for Eunice's case just now.

Kinross threw himself back on his pillow and clasped his hands under his head. No use to undress—he couldn't sleep. The thought of this girl, brought up as a servant to the Morningstars, her marriage to their son opposed because her poverty made her "not good enough for our Abner," her ignorance of life combined with her knowledge of books making her unique to the point of being pathetic—this young creature to suddenly find herself a great heiress. The speculations which the situation gave rise to drove sleep far from his brain. Would she be good enough for "our Abner" when her story was known? He chuckled when he thought of old Morningstar's earnest endeavors to hang himself, metaphorically speaking, by opposing his son's marriage to a great fortune.

"She may imagine she's in love with that fellow Abner, never having seen any other sort of men, but of course a few months in 'the world' will cure her."

He wondered whether he would do well to tell her at once all that he knew of her or to wait until he had seen Miss Wolcott and learned whether or not there was going to be difficulty about her coming into her own. It would be cruel to raise her hopes before there was some assurance of their being realized. He would do well to put her off when they met tomorrow night in the haunted room with as little as would satisfy her for the time being. He would then communicate at once with Miss Wolcott. If she was spending this summer at her Newport house he would run on to see her immediately. If she were abroad (she frequently spent the summer in Switzerland) he would cable her to return home at once on important financial business.

"A good thing for Eunice that this matter has fallen into my hands," he thought, "one wholly disinterested and with time, inclination and, I flatter myself, skill to work the thing out for her in the best possible way, not merely for the fun of the excitement of the case, though there's that side of it, too, but for the spite that there is in seeing a beauty wrong righted."
